EXTERIOR DECK

The 2013 V57 Princess is a luxury yacht model known for its sleek design and premium features. An "exterior deck" on this yacht refers to the outdoor area of the vessel, typically located on different areas.

Here's a breakdown of what you might find on the exterior deck of a 2013 V57 Princess:

Foredeck: This is the front part of the yacht. On the exterior deck, you find a spacious area for sunbathing or relaxing while enjoying the view.

Aft Deck: The aft deck is the back part of the yacht. It's often used for al fresco dining, socializing, or simply enjoying the open air. On the V57 Princess, this area features a dining table with L-shaped seating, a sunpad lounge, and an electric grill located in the starboard quarter.

Swim Platform: Part of the exterior deck, the swim platform is an essential feature for water access. It's a lowered area at the back of the yacht where you can easily board tenders, jet skis in garage, or simply take a dip in the water.

Overall, the exterior deck of the 2013 V57 Princess is designed to provide ample space for outdoor enjoyment, whether you're hosting guests for a sunset dinner or simply soaking up the sun in a tranquil anchorage.

SALOON AND MAIN DECK HELM

The interior of the 2013 V57 Princess yacht is designed with luxury and comfort in mind, offering a sophisticated space for relaxation and entertainment. Here's a breakdown of the interior saloon and helm station:

Saloon: The saloon is the main living area of the yacht, located on the main deck. In the case of the V57 Princess, the saloon is elegantly appointed with high-quality materials and finishes. To port, you find plush seating arrangements, such as a sofa, providing a comfortable space for socializing or simply enjoying the view through large windows. The saloon also features a flat-screen TV.

Galley: The galley is the kitchen area of the yacht, located down and forward of the saloon. In the V57 Princess, the galley well-equipped with ample storage space. It features a refrigerator, four top stove, conventional oven, allowing for the preparation of gourmet meals onboard. To the starboard of the galley, you will find an additional dining area with L-shaped seating.

Helm Station: The helm station is where the yacht is piloted and navigated. In the V57 Princess, the helm station is located on the main deck to starboard, offering excellent visibility for the captain. It's equipped with a Simrad NSE 12 navigational plotter, Simrad AP24 auto pilot, Simrad IS20, and radar. Volvo main engine electronic controls, side power bow thruster, and Icom HM-195B VHF. The helm station features comfortable seating for the captain and possibly a co-pilot.

Overall, the interior saloon and helm station of the 2013 V57 Princess yacht are designed to provide both luxury and functionality, ensuring a comfortable and enjoyable experience for both guests and crew alike.

MASTER STATEROOM

The center full beam master stateroom layout of the 2013 V57 Princess yacht is designed to provide a luxurious and comfortable living space for guests or owners. Here's an overview of what you might find in the forward stateroom:

Master Stateroom: The V57 Princess's master stateroom is the center full beam stateroom, offering the most luxurious accommodations onboard. It's located in the lower center of the yacht, maximizing space and providing excellent views through large windows or portholes.

Bed Configuration: The master stateroom features a large, comfortable bed, positioned in the center of the room to optimize space usage and provide easy access from both sides. The bed is surrounded by elegant cabinetry, including nightstands, drawers, and wardrobes, offering ample storage for clothing and personal belongings.

Ensuite Bathroom: The master stateroom includes an ensuite bathroom for added convenience and privacy. The bathroom features high-end fixtures and finishes, including a spacious shower, vanity, sink, and toilet.

Entertainment and Amenities: To enhance the comfort of guests or owners, the master stateroom is equipped with a flat-screen television, stereo system, and makeup station. Additionally, the stateroom features a climate control system for air conditioning and heating, to ensure optimal comfort in any weather conditions.

Natural Light and Views: The design of the master stateroom is often focused on maximizing natural light and providing stunning views of the surrounding scenery. Large windows or portholes allow plenty of sunlight to filter into the space during the day, creating a bright and inviting atmosphere. At night, blackout curtains or shades can be drawn for privacy and a restful sleep.

Overall, the master stateroom layout of the 2013 V57 Princess yacht is designed to offer a luxurious retreat for guests or owners, combining elegant design with practical amenities to ensure a comfortable and enjoyable onboard experience.

VIP/ FORWARD STATEROOM

The forward VIP stateroom on the 2013 V57 Princess yacht is a luxurious accommodation option located lower in the bow (front) of the vessel. Here's a detailed overview of what you might expect to find in the forward VIP stateroom:

Size and Layout: The forward VIP stateroom is often one of the most spacious and well-appointed cabins on the yacht, rivaling even the master stateroom in terms of comfort and amenities. Its location at the bow allows for a generous layout, maximizing space and providing a sense of openness.

Bed Configuration: The VIP stateroom features a large and comfortable queen-sized bed positioned centrally within the room. The bed is surrounded by elegant cabinetry, including bedside tables, wardrobes, and drawers, offering ample storage space for clothing and personal belongings.

Ensuite Bathroom: Like the master stateroom, the VIP stateroom includes an ensuite bathroom for convenience and privacy. The bathroom features high-quality fixtures and finishes, including a spacious shower, vanity with sink, and toilet. This bathroom has a door located in the common area for additional access for the bunk room.

Entertainment and Amenities: To enhance the comfort and enjoyment of guests staying in the VIP stateroom is equipped with various entertainment options, such as a flat-screen television, stereo system, and climate control systems, such as air conditioning and heating, to ensure optimal comfort regardless of weather conditions.

Natural Light and Views: The design of the forward VIP stateroom emphasizes natural light and offers stunning views of the surrounding seascape. Large windows or portholes allow plenty of sunlight to filter into the space during the day, creating a bright and inviting atmosphere. At night, blackout curtains or shades provide privacy and facilitate a restful sleep.

Overall, the forward VIP stateroom on the 2013 V57 Princess yacht is a luxurious and comfortable retreat for guests, offering a combination of elegant design, practical amenities, and breathtaking views to ensure a memorable onboard experience.

STARBOARD BUNK STATEROOM

The starboard bunk stateroom on a V57 Princess yacht refers to one of the guest cabins located on the starboard side of the vessel. Here's a breakdown of what you might expect to find in the starboard bunk stateroom:

Size and Layout: The starboard bunk stateroom is designed to accommodate guests in a comfortable and functional space. While it may not be as spacious as the master or VIP staterooms, it still offers sufficient room for guests to relax and unwind.

Bunk Beds: As the name suggests, the starboard bunk stateroom features bunk beds. Bunk beds are a space-saving solution that allows the stateroom to accommodate multiple guests without sacrificing comfort.

Storage: Despite its compact size, the starboard bunk stateroom includes storage options such as closets, drawers, and shelves. These provide ample space for guests to store their clothing, luggage, and personal belongings during their stay onboard.

Ensuite or Shared Bathroom: The bathroom is shared with another guest cabin access to a common bathroom located forward to port of the cabin.

Entertainment and Amenities: Climate control systems ensure guests' comfort regardless of weather conditions.

Natural Light and Views: Similar to other cabins on the yacht, the starboard bunk stateroom is designed to maximize natural light and provide views of the surrounding seascape. Windows or portholes allow sunlight to filter into the space during the day, creating a bright and inviting atmosphere.

Overall, the starboard bunk stateroom on a V57 Princess yacht offers a comfortable and functional accommodation option for guests, especially for families with children or groups of friends traveling together. While it may not boast the same level of luxury as the master or VIP staterooms, it provides everything guests need for a pleasant stay onboard.

MANUFACTURER PROVIDED DESCRIPTION

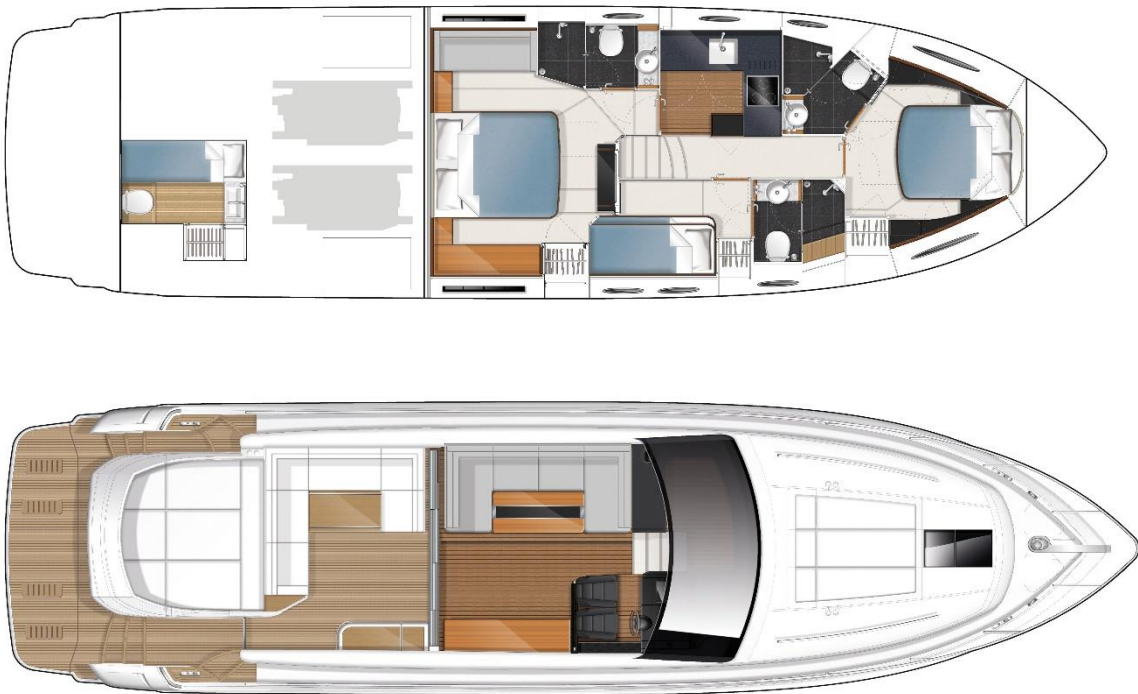

With her sleek and dynamic profile, agile and exhilarating performance, and extensive interior accommodation, the V57 is an exceptional sports yacht.

Incorporating the very latest Princess hull design and resininfusion technology, she combines strength with fuel efficiency, exceptional volume and comfort.

A large sunbed, extensive seating and well equipped wetbar create a highly sociable cockpit which can be opened to the main deck saloon via triple glass sliding doors to create one vast entertaining space. The tender can be stowed in the large garage or on the submersible bathing platform which enables effortless launch and recovery or provides the perfect beach from which to swim and enjoy the anchorage.

The main deck saloon is light and offers a tranquil escape from the heat of the day yet a truly exhilarating 'open boating' experience is only a touch of a button away via the large sliding roof. The lower deck offers class leading space and incorporates three beautifully styled en-suite cabins including a midships owner's stateroom and a double VIP forward. It is also a highly flexible layout with optional scissor berths available for the forward cabin and an optional dinette in lieu of the starboard bathroom if additional entertainment space is required. A further cabin for crew or occasional guests can also be specified in place of the large lazarette in the cockpit.
